“The heights by great men reached and kept
were not attained by sudden flight,
but they, while their companions slept,
were toiling upward in the night.”

HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

'Spacing, line and margin width, accurately listing of each consultant's details'... with these beautiful thoughts in our heads and the vision of being the editors', we started with the creation of this Heartian Consultancy Catalogue; and what a journey to reality it has been, from finalizing the layout and date for the release! We are happy and thankful to all who have directly and indirectly contributed in creating this catalogue. We wish that it becomes the starting point of enhancing our reach-out to various sectors of the society and the optimal tapping of the potential of higher education institutions in a more systematic and organized manner.

*Now, it is time for all of us to get it started.
Let's consult together!*

ABOUT HCC

UGC parameters on assessment and reassessment talk about the importance and weightage given for consultancy. It is a compulsory requirement that every institution should provide some extra benefit and interaction with the community that embraces an educational institution. In the efforts of bringing a consultancy registry, it was found that there is no standard format or methodology in which institutions have prepared an authentic consultancy registry. Moreover, this document unlike many other statutory documents of NAAC is not readily available in a tangible format.

Consultancy is always an add-on and has got one among the highest weightages under the research, consultancy and extension parameter of NAAC. It is hence advised that departments do prepare and maintain a book of accounts that enumerates the consultancy offered during each academic session, the revenue generated and the proportion and purposes for which it has been utilized; especially catering to student welfare and progression and research & developmental activities. It is not the quantity of the revenue that is being sought through this exercise of consultancy, but mobilization and extent to which knowledge dissemination is carried out in the community. Every consultant and department is required to maintain an authentic record in order to vouch your consultancy activities.
