

Financial Research Associate

The Financial Research group works closely with the front office to provide high-quality and in-depth investment research to the D. E. Shaw group's global proprietary trading strategies. We are looking for individuals from a wide range of backgrounds, with extraordinary academic or professional achievements, who have demonstrated initiative and intelligence in their previous endeavors.

WHAT YOU'LL DO DAY-TO-DAY:

- Support front-office traders/analysts on critical and time-sensitive recurring tasks that are data intensive in nature
- Build and manage large financial data sets; perform exception analysis
- Support fundamental research teams by conducting data research, summarizing industry/company conference calls, and preparing quarterly earnings reports
- Collaborate with in-house technology teams to automate processes to achieve optimal efficiency

WHO WE'RE LOOKING FOR:

- The ideal candidate should be a final-year student from a three-year undergraduate program with no current backlogs along with a minimum of 80% or equivalent CGPA in class 10th and 12th
- Candidates should be exceptionally accomplished and highly motivated creative thinkers
- Attention to detail and the ability to think unconventionally are important for this role
- Excellent written and oral communication skills are essential
