Sociology of Indian Society

Started on: Thursday, 12 July 2018

India is a vast country and has a long history of its glorious past. Its sociability and culture have been evolved as a result of the transitional antecedents occurred through the ages and has also been affected by foreign influences, providing extreme diversity and complexities to it, resulted to the derivation of many of distinctive features and processes found involved in it. 'Unity amidst diversity' is one of the major notions that we cherish as a nation, and every attempt has been made by her to realize it by the constitution and functioning of any of its organizations, institutions and established processes. An academic attempt has been envisaged in this course which is titled "Sociology of Indian Society" to understand the social significance of its cultural diversity and the origin and development of its composite political, economic, and philosophical character and the vast impact that our mother nation could exert to the global community outside; especially in the event of such significant events happening all around the world in contemporary days such as: Liberalization, Globalization, Automation and others.
