- Paper Number: G_1001
- Paper Title: Solar Flare imprints of Equatorial electrodynamics: An investigation using radio and optical techniques

On behalf of the Organizing Committee of the “2016 URSI Asia-Pacific Radio Science Conference” (URSI AP-RASC 2016) to be held on August 21-25, 2016 in Seoul, Korea, we are pleased to inform you that you have been selected as a recipient of the URSI AP-RASC 2016 Young Scientist Award (YSA). Our sincere congratulations!

You will receive free registration, one free banquet ticket, and free accommodation covering the conference duration (check-in: August 20 / check-out: August 26) which will be provided by the AP-RASC 2016 organizers. You may arrange alternative accommodation, but such arrangements are entirely at your own expense.

To qualify for this award, you are required to undertake the following.

- 1) Confirm your participation in AP-RASC 2016 by email before June 27, 2016.
- 2) Attend the AP-RASC 2016 Student Paper Competition (SPC) Special Session scheduled at 13:30-15:10, Monday, August 22, 2016, where you will be asked to contribute to the evaluation of the presentations by the five SPC finalists.
- 3) Present your paper at a regular oral or poster session.
- 4) Attend the SPC/YSA Party, 18:30-20:30, Monday, August 22, 2016.
- 5) Attend the Conference Banquet, 18:00-20:30, Wednesday, August 24, 2016. There will be the “SPC/YSA Award Ceremony” during the Banquet, where the YSA recipients will each receive a certificate.

If you have any questions or need help, please contact the AP-RASC 2016 Secretariat at secretariat@aprasc2016.org or +82-42-472-7460.

Thank you very much for your contribution to AP-RASC 2016. We look forward to seeing you in Seoul in August 2016!
