Kerala inaugurated the seminar. Rev. Dr. Prasant Palakkappillil, Principal welcomed and introduced the dignitaries on the dais. He also mentioned the need of change required in the academic domain so as to meet the requirements of the industry. Dr. T P Sreenivasan made the keynote address and talked about incorporating radical changes in the curriculum to match with global standards. He emphasised the need to bring together industries, educational experts and students to address the shortage of employability in Kerala. Dr. Aplhonse Ligori, Staff secretary proposed the vote of thanks. Teaching faculty across all disciplines attended the symposium. There was also an interactive session arranged at the end of the programme and many participants interacted with the speakers and made the symposium lively.
